

CLASS 004 - MATRIX IN THE NEW AGE - LAYERS OF CONTROL

Published 26 March 2025 by Space Academy - Sector Earth

Gosia: Hello! Welcome to Space Academy episode 4. I am so glad to be here with you again!

Last time we talked about the Matrix and how our society is built on constructs to keep our perception agreements and beliefs in the specific corral for the benefit of those who control it from behind. Today, we will explain how the Matrix, as system of control, extends into other areas, so-called alternative ones, and why you should, we all should, be careful, especially at the beginning of the journey.

Why especially at the beginning? Well, I find the beginning phase, which some of you might be in, to be the most vulnerable one. It's when you start to come out of the socially accepted ideas and start to listen to less mainstream information. You are open, excited even, but still one foot in the conditioned mindset, that is, to rely on some sort of established authority. That's how most people simply function, and that's why they can easily fall into more Matrix-controlled mechanisms.

And it's not always wrong to listen to experts but, since you haven't yet grown enough knowledge, haven't yet learnt to discern (in a way, it's a lifelong process, to be able to discern), those who are behind designing the system on Earth have set up some traps. New Age and alternative groups to do with space, ufology, non-religious spirituality, etc. are where some of those traps have been placed, and intentionally. And it is of tremendous importance for you to be aware of it.

And also, there is another reason why I decided to bring up this subject so early in our curriculum, and I will explain it at the end.

First, I want to point out that, in the process of the so-called awakening, or better said, gaining more understanding of how reality works, there are different levels through which people might pass. They are generally defined, of course. The first level, hopefully, is already behind you. It's a total Matrix level, where people live according to what society imposes on them as truths. They believe in official news and politics. "They never question anything, or perhaps only to a very shallow degree. Their truth and their values are the ones of society, and they follow them to the dot". (Mari Swa)

In the level two, people start to realize that many things are not right but this feeling is not strong enough to make them want to search for more.

In the level three, and the one that concerns us for this video, they begin to feel the need to seek answers outside socially accepted beliefs, and it's probably where most of you, my listeners, are, and your open mind is something to be proud of! The problem with this level is that most people here still believe in authority figures, "experts", so they tend to follow those who are socially accepted within their chosen alternative field. We can call those figures "mainstream alternative media". It's another mainstream just within the so-called alternative current, thus giving people the feeling they are going against the system, finally finding the "truth". People at this level are unaware yet that most largely established authorities, even within the alternative worlds, are also controlled. We will circle back to this point because it's where our main focus is for this video.

Finally, at level four, a more profound level of awareness, people begin to realize that all the main alternative narratives are also, or can be, limited and controlled just as the main society Matrix is. It can be said they go through the second awakening phase "Where they realize that the only way to reach some degree of truth and meaning is to research everything on their own, listen to everyone, but follow no one blindly." (Mari Swa). In the end, they must learn to connect all the dots on their own.

But let's go back now to level three. It's where we have people open to look for more information, but they don't realize yet that there are traps within alternative spiritual and extraterrestrial movements, and within New Age. They are not aware that those that rule the society have their control tentacles everywhere, and especially in the circles to which the curious and opening minds flock to.

Think about it for the moment, it's logical, and it would be even delusional to think otherwise. If you have a power structure set up to guide the beliefs of the population, how even more important to hijack and control the areas where members of that population go asking questions. If you want to control people, you must control them in all fields, especially the ones to do with subjects regarding nature of life on Earth, life in space, prohibited technologies, and everything that relates to expanding minds and transforming the society into something different from what they want it to be. We already talked about false realities in the official system on Earth in class two. The alternative areas, unfortunately, are not the exception!

"All the narratives, all the information on Earth, must and has to be controlled by agencies, of all subjects. The information people receive has to be controlled, nothing must be left ajar and in the wind. They control everything that goes into the public en masse, all social, spiritual, political, religious, economic trends and movements. Of course the whole "mystery" world is controlled, because things can come out of it that can change people's perception against the interests of the controllers". (Athena Swaruu)

People have been starting to see things behind the official narratives for decades now, and more each day, looking at information coming in from outside the established Matrix, remembering what they "shouldn't"; the unruly ones who don't agree with how things are on Earth, messing everything up for the controllers, so they obviously must be contained and that other information they are looking at must be explained away in different, misleading, ways. Ok. So what do those in power do? They infiltrate, and they have been strongly at it, inculcating attitudes, ideas, trends, perceptions, stellar concepts since 1940s, at least. This is where the New Age trends come in.

The New Age movement, according to official definitions, "spread through the metaphysical religious communities in the 1970s and 80s and it looked forward to a "New Age" of love and light, offering a foretaste of the coming era through personal transformation and healing" (britannica.com). It is a range of eclectic beliefs and practices encompassing a great variety of areas, all based on personal spiritual transformation.

However, what we, in Space Academy, believe, is that the New Age was created, or at least heavily infiltrated, by government agencies, mainly CIA, to hijack and control human awakening, perception and trends. You may think CIA is some spy agency looking for terrorists or concerned with national security but, in reality, it is an institution dedicated to population control whose reach goes way beyond what they officially project. "All those intelligence agencies in general dedicate nearly 90% of their time, resources, and efforts to manipulate the people's perceptions in favor of what the establishment wants". (Mari Swa)

Since the people at the stage three are still bound to follow authorities, what those agencies do is throw into the field a bunch of "experts" and respectable researchers, with credentials and supposed knowledge, who then guide the people's perception, making them feel they broke out of the Matrix, without them realizing they are being lured into another one. "People must base their concepts and belief systems on something as a foundation. Foundation that is heavily controlled by design". (Yazhi Swaruu)

"We can definitely say that "most official researchers in Ufology, for example, are connected to those who developed and control all the information which can be classified as New Age" (Mari Swa). What is worse, those "mainstream alternative" researchers end up backing each other up and, in the process, reinforce each other's information and image in the eye of the public, creating currents within the alternative world, self-validating among themselves. "All those people and their friends, some knowingly cooperating with the CIA, others just being used, are the mechanism of the Matrix to divert the attention of the 'awakened' population, all for the sake of monopolizing the truth". (Mari Swa). "And people fall for it because it comes from 'respectable' individuals, therefore it is 'credible'. They fall for the same thing as those they criticize who believe in CNN and the BBC just because they are 'authorities'". (Yazhi Swaruu)

People at lower level of understanding, level one, cannot even consider the possibility of there being groups of power controlling them from behind. They follow the system to the letter. It can be even understood why, since the control mechanism is structured like an onion, and very strong. "The whole mentality and reasoning of modern-day humankind is programmed not to be able to even consider the possibility that there can be a group who has the power to manipulate the perception of an entire planet and to such a strong degree". (Mari Swa)

And the exact same thing happens at level three, just at another layer of the onion - people feeling they are free, unaware that the Matrix extends there too. They "are unaware that all those large and well-organized spiritual communities are under the payroll of intelligence agencies who use them to control the perception and the narrative of what is apparently against the system, leaving all those well-organized spiritual and UFO communities as only more tricky tools of the same system; they are simply controlled opposition." (Mari Swa). They are basically implants to contain the awakening minds. And those who are not implants, many small genuine researchers, who exist, will follow and repeat after the big ones.

Controlled opposition, by the way, is a term to refer to the groups who are seemingly against what you are also against, that's why called "opposition", but they are controlled, meaning it's actually the same groups you are against that control that opposition. Very good strategy too, I would say.

Ok, let's look at couple of real-life community workshop testimonials about the New Age.

COMMUNITY WORKSHOP

Ok, so why is all this important for me to talk about apart from wanting to warn you about the dangers of falling into more Matrix trends, this time within New Age and alternative circles, and what are those misleading trends? There are many, and as we proceed, you will be learning about them all. I know I say this a lot but it's just impossible to throw everything into a single video.

So why else is it important that I mention all this? I said in the beginning that there was another reason. I am mentioning this because, as we move along, you will see many concepts discussed here that you may inadvertently confuse for the New Age. I must be very clear here - we are NOT New Age. Space Academy is not yet another New Age trend, even though many facts and beliefs that I will present will coincide with those of the New Age. And why? Because not everything within New Age is wrong. There are many elements there that are in line with what I will share. But, beside these elements in common, there are many others we are completely in opposition of, which makes us extremely non-mainstream alternative, and very non-New Age. "I could even say that the New Age serves, among other things, to discredit information like ours by implanting false ideas" (Swaruu of Erra) so when the time comes, like now for you, to research these subjects, they would be right away labeled as New Age and "woo-woo". That's why I made this video so early in the program so you can keep this in mind.

You will ask, of course, how can you know then if our information is not controlled? Unfortunately, at this point, you can't know that for sure. It may seem we are just another channel with information. And that is so. Among countless informants out there, that's who we will seem to be, for now at least. In the end, there isn't just one hard ultimate truth about almost anything anyway and, as I always say, you must connect the final dots yourself. Research all you can, from different sources, including us, and make up your own mind. And, above all, do not be afraid to make mistakes.

I know it is frustrating that there are so many levels of control and it may make you feel lost trying to navigate through all this soup of information out there. I know it can be painful to try to discern. It was for me and still is. But, stay on the path and be open, keep learning, don't get discouraged and don't dismiss your curiosity just because it is a maze out there. It IS, and it is placed there on purpose, precisely to confuse you. Just trust that, in the end, you will be guided to what really serves you at any given moment. There are no mistakes, I don't think, just lessons and experiences, so listen to all, gather knowledge in the area that interests you, and dismiss what doesn't. Enjoy it, even if it may turn out not so valid after a while.

And, "In the end, look carefully at what all this implies: the enormous need to spend all kinds of resources, with enormous effort, to control human perception, individual and collective. This indicates that those who have the real control over reality are humans and not them". (Athena Swaruu). And this further means that those in power, whoever is behind the affairs on Earth, is actually afraid of us and of us realizing that we are more, and that there is more. For that reason, I don't even like to call them "those in power" as the ones with real power are us, we just kind of forgot.

On that note, in the next class, and after we briefly looked at the falsities, we will finally begin to learn about what is real, about those who truly are in power, and we will start with... you. Yes, you. You as a human, your body and mind, your consciousness. Are you just your body, are you your mind, what are you really? What are your thoughts on this topic, I wonder! Let's get into this subject next. Thank you all, and I will see you again soon!
