Interviewer: There's one thing, Anéeka, that we're a little concerned about. It's about the cases of mutilated horses in France. Do you know anything about this?

Anéeka: Clearly non-human mutilations? I know about that, but I didn't know it was happening in France now. The most recent cases I had on record were in Utah in the United States.

Interviewer: Yes, they cut off an ear and an eye. Some take blood, others take other internal organs. And it's happening all over France. There are already more than 300 horses, and not just those in the countryside, but also in stables.

Anéeka: Okay. I didn't know about that. Thank you for telling me. And yes, I'll look into it from here. We know that these are mainly activities of regressive Maitré. Although there are elements of government there, and Reptilians too, for their genetic experiments and for consumption.

Interviewer: Thank you, Anéeka. The truth is that this is an issue that concerns us. Poor horses! So many cases! We think it could be satanic rituals performed by these madmen and experiments of other races, as you say.

We have a friend in the south of France who has three horses and is very scared. Some people say they saw a very large drone hovering around before the mutilations. This is a composite sketch of one of the people who saw two men near their horses, who they say told them, "You're not going to stop us. This has only just begun."

Anéeka: Okay. The thing is, you have to look carefully at the type of mutilation because, based on the data, it's easy to see if it was done by Satanists or by non-human entities.

Interviewer: Veterinarians say that the cuts are perfect scalpel cuts and that those who draw blood leave no trace.

Anéeka: Yes, so it seems more like a human cause. There is a big difference between a scalpel and a laser. That, on the other hand, leads me to believe it's not human. Humans and Satanists can't make those cuts. The cutting systems are computer-guided, or at least some of them are, but you can tell what kind of cutting instrument was used. Simply because the laser cauterizes as it cuts.

Interviewer: I see. The problem is that we don't know what information is being leaked to the public.

Anéeka: Right. Another question is whether this is only happening in France or if it's happening in any of the neighboring countries, such as Spain, Belgium, Holland, Switzerland, or Germany.

Interviewer: As far as we know, it's only concentrated in France.

Anéeka: That's strange too. Because the non-human ignores political divisions. And nowadays, because of the European Union, they pass through everywhere without identifying themselves, as I understand it.

Interviewer: And if it's not a scalpel or a laser, how do they cut?

Anéeka: There are other non-human methods. Water jet cutting or compressed sound cutting. Both are at least 1,000 times more precise than a scalpel.

Interviewer: Wow! And water jet cutting? How does that work?

Anéeka: There is something similar on Earth, but cruder, but basically it's the same principle. Water is passed at high pressure through a very fine nozzle. Tenths of a millimeter thick. The water passes so quickly and at supersonic speeds that it cuts through everything like butter, including thick sheets of steel. It is used in the manufacture of military armor or for high-precision cutting of printed circuits. Humans don't even have a prototype of the sound saw. It's a very specific frequency or compressed noise that changes according to the material and separates the materials molecularly.

This device, used in non-human surgical operations, has the ability to separate one cell from another without destroying them. It separates tissue at the cellular level without causing unnecessary damage, which greatly accelerates healing.

Interviewer: Thank you, Anéeka. Incredible. The water thing sounded familiar, but it's also very impressive. Do you use either of these two?

Anéeka: We use both. Although surgical procedures are very rare or infrequent since the advent of the advanced medical pod.

Interviewer: You mentioned earlier, "Because the non-human transcends political divisions." So, could it be due to a pact with this country?

Anéeka: A pact between non-humans? I don't think so. I seriously doubt it because that's not how they operate. They wouldn't even stop at a pact with a single country because no non-human understands or recognizes countries the way the human population perceives them. They simply see the Earth as a single mass or people and do what they want through agreements or pacts with secret black societies, like the Illuminati, who also see the entire Earth as their property. That's why I doubt it's an agreement only with France.

Interviewer: So you think they could be regressive non-humans? And why do they want to genetically experiment on horses?

Anéeka: I do not have the answer as to why specifically horses this time. It is known that they attack cows and goats, sheep, horses before, but collectively. Specific horses, that's very strange and worrying. From what you have told me, I see human components like those of a sect. And at the same time other components that would indicate the intervention of non-humans. At this moment, it is difficult to issue a judgment with the data received.

Interviewer: I understand, Anéeka. Don't worry, thank you anyway.

Anéeka: You're welcome.

Interviewer: And, on the other hand, is there any way to protect the horses or something?

Anéeka: Yes, I would say the most obvious ways, not leaving them outside alone or far away from the houses and from human eyes.

Interviewer: Yes, she has already brought them almost inside her house and at night she gets up to check. She has also put up large lights and leaves them on all night.

Anéeka: Understandable, yes. All of that helps. Whether they are human or not, they will go after animals that are easy prey for them. They can put up infrared cameras, they are not that expensive. That in some way scares off the human components that may be involved. Because if they are extraterrestrials, they are of no use. They turn everything off magnetically.

Interviewer: Buff!... How scary. How difficult then. And is there some kind of energetic protection or something like that?

Anéeka: I don't know. I have to ask. Clearly, the Earth is complete madness nowadays.

Interviewer: Thank you very much, Anéeka. We have this friend who is very worried. I just hope it doesn't come down toward Spain and that it stops soon.

Anéeka: You're welcome. The next time we talk I will have more to comment on regarding this. Although, since it doesn't depend on me, I don't know how much or how relevant what I have will be.

Interviewer: Thank you very much, Anéeka. We appreciate it enormously.

Anéeka: You're welcome. From here, through sensors, we become aware of traffic of airplanes, human and non-human aircraft on Earth, and flying in the atmosphere, high orbit, and low orbit. The problem is that all of Europe, among other places, is an area of extremely high traffic of vessels of all kinds. Including regressive vessels. It is not easy even for us to see what each one is doing. Although, since this is happening specifically over France, I will see what can be done with the sensors and with traffic control.

As we say here, every time a small craft is seen or detected down there, a disk for example, we only understand that it is going to or coming from carrying out an abduction. But this is normal and has always been so, and although they report that as a negative experience, if they are the Gardener Greys it is something agreed upon, although rough. It scares, but with good intentions. They simply lack tact. They abduct. They do whatever they have to do with the subject, return them, and go on to the next. And they do it in a hurry without being kind because they have another 20 to do on the same night. It is just that a very small percentage of people remember having been visited. Mostly, they carry out health corrections.

Interviewer: And is it very often? And DNA adjustments? Chips?

Anéeka: All the time. Right now, it is happening somewhere in the world. Adjustments such as DNA damaged by chemicals. Erasing cancers and syndromes from people. Things that would not allow them to carry out their life's work as planned. Manipulation of a mother's frequency. Because a mother could harbor a high-frequency starseed, and if the mother's body is not prepared beforehand, she could miscarry spontaneously.

Interviewer: Are these the ones who were abducting people in the United States and inserting false memories?

Anéeka: Not just in the United States. This happens all the time and to virtually everyone. Many parts of people's lives, and surely your own, are not true. They are memories that are inserted as context, in order to have a basis for being or reacting in a specific way during their lives.

Although the Greys are the ones who do this most often on behalf of other races, it also happens that each race can, or often does, insert this kind of memory into their own starseeds. But all of this is done by agreement before entering there. It should be remembered that, although it seems like a solid reality, you live within a Matrix that is mostly an illusion. However, since what defines reality is perception and each person's experience, from that point of view it is objective reality. From a broader perspective, it is a game within an artificial Matrix. And from another perspective, it is life, real, tangible, true.

So, although the experience there is valid because the experience is true and no one can deny that, from the other side it is just a game. So, in itself, nothing that happens there should be taken so seriously. It is part of the game, and one changes one's mind or perception from outside that game. Although I recognize that from there it is a perverse, cruel, and macabre game. And that is what we are against what the Federation does, in general. Because the experience is real, and people suffer. So it doesn't matter if it's a game or not. It must stop.
