

THE ASTRAL WARRIORS, PART 2. EPISODE 4. STAR SEEDS AND THEIR MISSION (ENGLISH)

Mari Swa: Hello again, thank you for being here with me once more. I hope you are very well today. I am Mari, hello. Welcome to my channel. This information can be seen as science fiction or as the viewer sees best and I post it for entertainment purposes only. Still, I take my information very seriously and for whoever has eyes to see.

I am writing this on the morning of October 9th, 2024. This is a continuation of the last videos on this subject, especially the last one, "Astral Warriors Part One," so I strongly suggest watching those to understand how I arrived at everything I will say here today.

The concept of astral warriors makes us all think of positive spiritual entities going around in golden armour, wielding a sword against all things evil, much as archangels are depicted. Although, in my experience, this can be true, most astral warriors fight evil simply by existing, as their high vibration is very toxic for all those entities who are defined by having very low existential vibrations. A high vibration, being in a low vibration realm, is like a candle in a dark room. One is enough to disrupt darkness, and therefore those entities will do whatever is in their power to extinguish its light, as it is literally destroying their darkness and their evil realm with it.

This means that, by definition, all positive high vibration starseeds are astral warriors, especially on Earth. As a note, starseeds are not unique to planet Earth and its realm, as they occur all over the universe and inside all stellar cultures and societies. They jump from one experience to another, sampling what it is like to be a member of one or another biological race, all in their eternal quest for knowledge and expansion.

As I have explained before and in another context, starseeds on Earth don't need to be on a mission, as missions are seen with Earth's social parameters and ideas. All they need to do is be who they are and follow their life and their interests as best as they can. The mere fact that a starseed is present in one or another place on Earth is like being the candle in a dark room, and the higher its vibration is, the more its influence reaches. Even if the starseed is sad or depressed, its essence will always be high vibratory.

But beware that a starseed who has lived many incarnations in other places and has existed and thrived in higher non-material existential realms has a phenomenal manifestation power for good things and bad things. So it is their responsibility to know this and manifest only good things for itself and, with them, for the collective around it which it is influencing. Self-control in all aspects of life, determination and emotional control is essential not to fall into a destructive mental spiral that will manifest ugly things with appalling speed as compared to someone else who is more normal and less powerful, for lack of better words. The simple presence of a high vibration, determined starseed who is self-conscious of being one in a low vibration place is enough to disrupt the energy patterns that feed evil in that place. The mere fact of one of those starseeds walking into a room with bad energy is enough to stop much of that evil energetical pattern.

But, of course, the starseed will sense it is in a low vibration place and will feel disgusted or repelled by it, wanting to leave, as that low vibration in there will attempt to lower its own by the simple effect of the dominant frequency principle, which states that the strongest vibration will want to make all others more of it. This could be interpreted as the low vibration place being toxic for the starseed, but that depends on the starseed's personal frame and internal power and its capacity to stand its own ground against adversity of all kinds. The dominant frequency of those low vibration places may want to lower the starseed's own, which is the definition of being in a toxic place. Yet, what I am going to say next is very important.

The starseed's total vibration cannot be lowered simply by being in a bad low vibration place, even though the starseed may feel its vibration lowering, perhaps because he or she is seeing the horrible things that are going on there as an example. It will reduce it, as inevitable, yet it will never get lower than a certain point that depends on the starseed's frame. It cannot get lower because the place will not change who the starseed is at its core. And this is because the high vibration person, the starseed, is not really generating its vibration and its energy. A high vibration starseed is not isolated; it is Source itself, and wherever it goes, that doesn't matter.

This can also be interpreted as having a strong connection to Source, yet that, in my opinion, does not explain accurately what is going on there, as that explanation other people and authors use generates the idea of being separate, away from Source, therefore having something like a long-distance connection to it, and therefore of being something different from it.

As a starseed, you who are listening to me right now, you are Source. You manifest and you create with your focus and with your higher values and ideas. Therefore, you balance the low vibration, highly dualistic realms you walk by, filling it with the light and with the positivity of creation, not of destruction, of Source. Even when you have made mistakes throughout your life, you must know that back then, you always acted with the best information that was available to you at the time, and you concluded that it was the best possible course of action, even though, in the end, things didn't turn out as you had wished.

And also remember that being in that low vibration dense soup called Earth's Matrix means that many of your thoughts and emotions were telepathically picked up by you from the greater collective, collective unconscious and not so unconscious. As I explained in other videos, not all your thoughts and emotions are entirely yours, as everyone is telepathic yet untrained to distinguish their own thoughts, ideas, and emotions from those of others, also as the consequence of being a highly empathic being in a place full of constant hurt.

And also remember that all those lower astral entities and creatures will do anything possible to target and lower the vibration of those starseeds who are disrupting their beloved dark realm, where they are being manifested as egregors, spawn from the darkest corners of the collective unconscious. A starseed, as a candle in a dark room, will have all the attention on it and of both dualistic sides: of those who need its light and therefore do everything to protect it, and also of those who wish to extinguish it, to sink the place into darkness. This is perhaps the simplest explanation of why so many starseeds on Earth feel so targeted and by all sides.

Moving on. Besides this not so romantic explanation of how starseeds fight evil by simply existing, you must also know that the best way to fight something is not to give your opponent anything to bounce against. Therefore, simply existing as a starseed in a low vibration place is fighting evil, defeating it without even needing to go into an open confrontation. This is because a direct fight may be exactly what the evil entity wants. Yet, the mere existence of a strong framed, determined starseed, who is being itself as Source itself, is a power those entities cannot fight against, because there is nothing to fight against, as the high vibration starseed is unreachable and untouchable inside its armor made of high vibration Source energy.

But even with this concept of winning without even fighting, things are not always so simple on Earth and its complex Matrix, where you not only need to stay positive and with good vibes, but you also must be proactive. This is because things there in that Earth realm are slow to manifest as compared to how things come to be in higher realms and even with the superior manifestation power of a Source starseed. This is where the old saying comes into play: the only thing evil needs to thrive is that good people do nothing, or something along those lines.

This means that many starseeds do fight directly. They fight not only by simply existing, because many do organize and start to share their knowledge with others through books, videos, and similar media, as well as actively and physically working to help other people and sentient creatures in need.

But, besides this activist starseed tendency, there is another aspect, which is that many starseeds do enter the astral realms purposefully to directly confront and fight against strong evil entities who are causing mayhem on the side of the living. I see this astral warrior subject is immense, and it is taking several videos to share, and perhaps there may be many more to come. There is a lot more to say, and I haven't even been able to get to the actual astral warriors with a sword and all, even though it was my intention today, because starseed's mission was extensive as a subject and critical to share, as it involves all of you directly. But for now, I will leave it here.

This will be all for today. As always, thank you for watching my video and for liking, sharing, and subscribing for more. It helps this channel grow a lot. And I hope to see you here next time.

With much love and appreciation.
